It includes additional up-to-date cases on topics such as the Supreme Courts latest treatment of preemption in the products liability context and the primary assumption of risk doctrine, applied to spectators in a baseball stadium, reviewing recent pro-plaintiff developments in that setting. To clarify the significance of particular rules for slip and fall cases, natural accumulations, and injuries inflicted by third-party criminals, the material on special elaborations of duties to legal land entrants has been reorganized. Modern cases with interesting facts: Sending a text to a driver: Does the sender owe a duty of care to someone injured in a vehicular accident caused in part by the text recipients texting while driving? Superstores and customer injuries: Whether abandoning the trespasser-licensee-invitee system should prevent application of the open and obvious danger rule when a customer was harmed by a large Costco merchandise display. Direct-to-consumer drug advertising: Applying the learned intermediary doctrine to drugs that are promoted directly to potential patients.
