Andrew Macnab : Bellamy Child: Materials on European Union Law of Competition: 2016 Edition before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Bellamy Child: Materials on European Union Law of Competition: 2016 Edition:

This volume of EU competition law materials serves both as the Materials volume of the new Seventh Edition of Bellamy Child: European Community Law of Competition, and as a free-standing work of reference in its own right. It includes legislation, notices and guidelines relevant to all areas of EU competition law (including Treaty provisions, modernisation and procedural matters, substantive antitrust matters, mergers and concentrations, sectoral regimes, public undertakings and State aids). It provides a one-stop resource for competition and antitrust practitioners worldwide. For ease of use, the book includes notes immediately below individual recitals and articles. These include the original Official Journal notes, identification of amendments and, as a major enhancement, thorough pinpoint cross-references to specific paragraphs where the relevant provisions are discussed in Bellamy Child and also Faull Nikpay.

This collection of the documents is extensive, but not exhaustive. This is not meant as a criticism of the editors selection of materials, but recognition that there are space constraints associated with any publication, particularly a publication of legal instruments. This collection of materials is an admirable and highly useful complement to both Bellamy and Childs European Union Law of Competition and Faull and Nikpay: The EU Law of Competition. The cross-references to these latter two works aid the researcher in understanding the relevant document. For this purpose, the collection is highly recommended.
