Steve Foster : Human Rights and Civil Liberties before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Human Rights and Civil Liberties:

The principal aim of this new textbook is to provide a clear and coherent account of the law of civil liberties and human rights for the undergraduate law student. In particular, the text focuses on the position of civil liberties' protection in the light of the Human Rights Act 1998 and the standards of human rights protection laid down, principally by The European Convention on Human Rights and its case law. The main aim of the text is to enable the reader to appreciate the balancing of human rights with other rights and interests and to understand the dilemmas involved in protecting them. Regular chapter updates can be found on the web at www.booksites.net.

About the Author Dr. Steve Foster is Principal Lecturer in Law in the Law School at Coventry University. He has over 30 years experience of teaching human rights and civil liberties and has written extensively in a variety of legal journals in this area.
