William Binchy, Jeremy Sarkin : Human Rights, the Citizen and the State: South African and Irish Approaches before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Human Rights, the Citizen and the State: South African and Irish Approaches:

Human Rights, the Citizen and the State is a collection of essays written by Trinity Law School Lecturers, Irish High Court Judges and a number of South African academics. Themes examined include, the role of national human rights institutions in Post-Apartheid South Africa, the incorporation of international law into Irish domestic law, sentencing practice in Ireland and South Africa, and the justiciability of economic rights. It will be of interest to all those concerned with human rights and civil liberties.
