Austin Buckley : Insurance Law before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Insurance Law:

The authoritative work on Insurance Law in Ireland New edition Insurance Law Third Edition by Austin J Buckley is the authoritative work on the subject of Irish Insurance Law and is the reference of choice for all practitioners.The First Edition of this book was published in 1996, for which the Author was awarded the prestigious Sargison

Memorial Medal, by the Insurance Institute of Ireland for work of outstanding merit and distinction. The book is now the acknowledged reference on matters of Insurance law in Ireland and is cited authoritatively in the courts and in arbitrations. Since its first publication it has become the reference of choice for all practitioners confronted with queries or issues relevant to Insurance Law in this jurisdiction. The book, in its Second Edition, achieved an even greater circulation and became widely regarded as a trustworthy and accessible work, being quoted in Opinions, Arbitrator's Awards and Court Judgments. Updated and Expanded Third Edition

The third edition provides an update on the development of the law in a number of important areas. It analyses and comments on recent decisions in Ireland and England on the reciprocal nature of the Duty of Utmost Good Faith, Non-Disclosure, Composite v Joint policies, Products Liability, Liability for the acts of Bouncers, the rights of mortgagees, Liability of Intermediaries and the office of the Insurance Ombudsman. It also revises and updates the content generally on the main classes of non-life insurance, in the light of recent legal developments.
