Martin Partington : Introduction to the English Legal System before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Introduction to the English Legal System:

Introduction to the English Legal System is an excellent starting point for all those coming fresh to the study of law. Written in a highly engaging and approachable style, it introduces readers to the purposes and functions of law and the law-making process; it also explains what is happening to the English legal system, why it is happening, and considers what the future may bring. With the legal system facing a period of profound uncertainty, the book covers recent institutional developments and their significance for key matters of public interest, including human rights, control of crime, fears of a compensation culture, and access to justice. Adopting a 'holistic' approach, the book does not just describe, it also challenges readers' assumptions about the law and encourages them to question the extent to which the legal system is able to meet the demands placed upon it. Online Resource Center An accompanying Online Resource Center provides a wide range of resources for both students and lecturers: Student Resources:- Author blog with podcasts - Multiple choice questions - Flashcard glossary - Web links - Crosswords Lecturer Resources: - Test bank of multiple questions with answers and feedback - Customizable PowerPoint presentations from previous edition: "In my view, Martin Partington has succeeded admirably in providing a text which both explains things clearly, and encourages the reader to think about the enormous changes currently affecting the legal system. He has been able to draw on his experience not only as a teacher of law, but also as a law reformer and contributor to the work of many important committees." --Lord Philips of Worth Matravers About the Author Martin Partington is Emeritus Professor of Law, Bristol University. He is a barrister, currently in practice at Arden Chambers. For 5 years, he was Law Commissioner, and was retained by the Law Commission as a special consultant in order to complete its major program of work on the reform of housing law until 2008. He was a special consultant to the Leggatt of Tribunals in 2001. He has been a member of numerous committees and bodies working within the English Legal System. He was appointed CBE in 2002, and made an honorary Queens Counsel in 2008.
